KIDS CITY Children's Festival 1980

Fort Mason Center and Alvarado Arts Workshop present the San Francisco Children's Festival, a three-day (May 29, 30, & 31) celebration of children, with children, for children: workshops, dancing and performances, puppets, displays, animals, and more.

Other activities include sign-ups for summer classes and camps, as well as meeting Park Rangers, artists, celebrities, and other kids. Festival Hours: 10 AM-4 PM Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Call for information: 771-2128. If you plan to bring a school class, call for reservations.

4th Annual S.F. Free Folk Festival

The Fourth Annual San Francisco Free Folk Festival will be held at Plowshares, the Folk Music Center, on Saturday and Sunday, June 14 & 15, from 11 AM to 10 PM each day. Plowshares always presents the best in traditional and acoustical music, and this year's festival is sure to surpass last year's in fun and pleasure.

During the day, three workshops will be held as well as continuous concerts from 12 noon to closing. Last year's classes included the Irish Tune, Lead Guitar, Fiddle Tunes, and even topics like Sound Equipment, Harmonies, and Vocal Explorations. Along with the classes, participatory dance workshops will be held, in addition to the continuous concerts consisting of twenty-minute sets, also from noon to closing.

Plowshares serves as something of a showcase, freely choosing performers solely on the basis of their music, paying little attention to the "drawing power" of the performers. Yet Plowshares does not present only the "unknown musician," what with the likes of Frankie Armstrong, Martin Carthy, and Lou Killen from England, Jean Ritchie and Guy Carawan from Appalachia having played there.

Plowshares, interestingly enough, is run entirely by volunteers. The people who set up the chairs, sell the refreshments, and run the sound system all donate their time and love for the music. Besides the festival, Plowshares is open Sunday and Thursday nights at 7:30 PM in Bldg C. Admission then is $2.50 or a PAS voucher; volunteers see the show for free. For more information, call the music center at 441-8910.

Women In Mid-Life

Women in Mid-Life is the theme of a conference to be held at the Fort Mason Center on Saturday, May 3rd. The conference, in recognition and celebration of the lives of women in midlife, is planned by midlife women in the belief that women can best learn from one another; and features presentations by panels of midlife women who are currently in the process of change in the areas of career exploration and decision, and the re-entry into education or world of work. To register for the conference, send the registration fee ($12), plus an optional $3.75 for a box lunch, to: Mid-Life Conference, Fort Mason Center, San Francisco, CA 94123

Jaws II: Tax Reform & The Arts

The People's Theater Coalition seeks immediate funding for a series of public forums on Tax Reform, the future of public support of the arts, and the impact of Jarvis II on arts programs. Administrators and academic analysts, legislators and political aides, and representatives from private foundations will join artists, writers, and actors.

The issues and themes addressed are critical, and a good response is anticipated from the general public as well as from those working within the arts. The series will be held at the Marina Theater in the Fort Mason Center, on successive Tuesdays, May 6, 13, and 20. In short, should arts advocates enter into the Proposition 9 debate, or remain neutral?

Contemporary Crafts Gallery Opening Soon

Meyer Breier Weiss, Gallery of Contemporary Crafts, is moving to Fort Mason Center, between the Rental Gallery of the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art and Greens Restaurant. This space is being extensively remodelled to provide a permanent display for multi-media objects of clay, glass, wood, metal, fibers (sculptural and functional), and wearable art, as well as an area devoted to continually rotating shows illustrating the creative qualities of modern art forms. To encourage public awareness, these shows will coincide with lectures and workshops in addition to serving as an open forum for faculty-student groups.
